Dear Tim,

I was very sorry to hear of the death of General Bill Turner whom I met earlier this year at Fort Henry and I remember that he was very full of life and wisdom – as his generation always was. They served their Captain General, Canada and their Regiments to the full in war and peace and it is sad to see them go. The General was a fine example in every respect with a distinguished career behind him, not least as a fine Colonel Commandant of your Regiment in the 80's.

So let me send condolences on his passing from all members of the Royal Regiment to his family and many friends. It will be a sad occasion next Monday, of course, but no doubt suitably tinged with pride in a life well spent.

*Yours sincerely,
Tim Granville-Chapman*
